FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

Dear Collegiate Community,

In August, we opened the 2020-21 school year with the hope of bringing our students back to campus safely for in-person learning. Our students, faculty, and staff are finally all back and excited to be learning in the classroom. The past few months have been filled with new adventures, excitement, and a lot of uncertainty as we navigate through a global pandemic.

We're proud of this community and how it has come together to support each other over this past year. This summer, we worked diligently to create a safe campus for our faculty, staff, and students to return to in-person learning. We welcomed our youngest learners, Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten, on August 18, with all grades returning by September 29. We opened our 2020-21 school year with 664 students and welcomed 121 new students to our community. Since the school year began, we have welcomed 13 additional students to Collegiate. Students, faculty, and staff are all doing their part to keep our school open by wearing masks, sanitizing, and maintaining social distancing.

All of the additional safety measures, including an 8,500 square foot campus tent, ventilation upgrades, plexiglass dividers, and sanitizing stations would not be possible without your support of Collegiate. Each year, our Annual Fund campaign allows us to enhance our academic programming, retain the best teachers, purchase new classroom technologies, and offer students exceptional experiences in athletics and the arts.

Last spring, we created Collegiate Cares to promote local community-owned businesses that we could support during the pandemic. Our community once again stepped up and supported these restaurants and businesses owned by Collegiate parents, alumni, and friends. In May, we participated in Giving Tuesday Now and encouraged our community to go all in for Collegiate during this turbulent time. Thank you to the 194 community members who went ALL IN on that day of global giving.

These dollars raised supported our 2019-20 Annual Fund campaign. We can't thank you enough for your continued support and for giving us the budgetary flexibility to thrive in 2020.

In this issue of The Bulletin, you will see how your support makes a difference to each and every student at Collegiate. We thank you for your generosity and support of Collegiate.

With appreciation,

Dr. Robert P. Macrae Head of School

Collegiate Opens for In-person & Remote Learning

The 2020-21 school year will be long remembered as the year our community came together, supported one another, and continued its tradition of providing an excellent educational experience to our students amidst a global pandemic. It has been a school year filled with morning temperature checks, one-way hallways/stairwells, and mask-wearing to keep everyone safe and healthy - truly a year we will never forget.

It was a busy summer around Collegiate. Due to COVID-19, our 2020-21 school year plans had to be significantly altered to ensure our students, faculty, and staff were safe to return to in-person learning. Our facilities and maintenance staff worked around the clock moving desks, shifting classrooms, and reconfiguring the campus to keep everyone safe. The administrative team spent countless hours designing new schedules and routines for students. And our teachers have shifted lesson plans to accommodate both in-person and remote learning.

As a licensed daycare provider, beginning August 18, we were fortunate to have Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten return to campus first and gain valuable experience with symptom analysis, contact tracing, etc. Our youngest students continue to amaze us with their excitement and enthusiasm for being in class with their teachers and friends, all while wearing a mask. All other students in grades 1-12 opened the school year remotely due to a recommendation from Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear.

Starting September 16, we welcomed back first through twelfth graders at a staggered start, with all students returning to in-person learning by September 29. This schedule allowed students and teachers to learn the new safety requirements and traffic patterns while on campus. We are incredibly proud of our students for following these new guidelines and adjusting to Collegiate's new norms. Although the masks may hide their smiles, we know our students are happy to be back in the classrooms.

Our campus field is now home to an 8,500 squarefoot tent. This tent is used as a dining facility to feed over 500 students, faculty, and staff. Tables both inside the Thornton Dining Commons and the tent include plexiglass partitions to provide a safe eating environment for all. We have added additional cleaning staff to clean and sanitize the campus throughout lunches and the school day.

Collegiate is also offering online learning for those families who are not ready to return to campus for in-person learning. We have purchased new technology, including Swivl cameras, to enhance the online learning experience for our students. Teachers are going above and beyond to provide lessons that educate our students simultaneously in-person and remotely. During this pandemic, our teachers have shown such resilience to meet the needs of our students. And for this, we are extremely grateful.

As we continue to navigate this school year during the COVID-19 pandemic, we are forever grateful to our administrators, board of trustees, parents, teachers, and staff for their commitment and willingness to keep our community safe and healthy at school. Together, we remain strong, committed, and united to provide our students with the best possible education in these uncertain times.

We've invested in technology, infrastructure, and personnel to minimize the risk of COVID-19 for our community.

- Technology upgrades Swivl cameras allow live streaming of classes for families who elect to learn virtually.
- Renting 4,000 square feet at Gilda's Club for three additional classroom spaces.
- Outdoor dining tent where two-thirds of students eat outside.
- HVAC upgrades constantly circulating air with fresh air exchange, added filtration systems to classrooms without fresh air.
- Disinfection two sanitizing machines and more than doubled our cleaning staff to wipe down bathrooms, doorknobs, surfaces with frequent use multiple times a day.
- Additional personnel has been added on campus to assist in the classrooms and health center as needed.

The Journey Toward Meaningful Engagement

By Dr. Tiffany Bridgewater, Head of Lower School & Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion begins with a commitment to creating an inclusive community that nourishes students and families from all backgrounds and perspectives. Before the school year began, I started thinking about how to frame what we hope to accomplish this year. I kept coming back to one question - how do we continue to best support all of our students? This question was the focus during my summer talks with Collegiate alumni, and it is this essential question that will guide us this year when planning diversity, equity, and inclusion programs and activities. Our many efforts during the 2020-21 school year include:

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR ADMINISTRATORS, FACULTY, AND STAFF:

We utilize a seminar-style model to facilitate discussion and reflection through The National SEED Project, Seeking Educational Equity and Diversity, founded in 1987 by Dr. Peggy McIntosh. Initially, SEED's diversity centered focus, established for college and university faculty, was expanded by Dr. McIntosh to provide a year-long professional development opportunity for K-12 educators. We use this model to help our faculty, staff, and administrators understand the intersectionality of their own identities, which we believe will, in turn, allow us to support students as they grapple with their own identities and the opportunities and barriers associated with them. We also employ the SEED model to help create a safe and inclusive environment where faculty members can examine their personal "records" as they work to strengthen their teaching and learning curriculum and practices as it relates to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

SCHOOL COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT:

At the center of our programming is a commitment to creating a sense of belonging and engagement for students and their families utilizing our Cornerstones - Respect, Responsibility, Honor, and Compassion to support our work in diversity, equity, and inclusion. Over the years, we have deepened our work by bringing all constituencies together to discuss broad topical issues led by national experts in the field of diversity, equity, and inclusion, including Dr. Derrick Gay and Rosetta Lee. Rosetta Lee is a frequent visitor to the school. She led guided student groups in Middle and Upper School and adult groups four years ago through the Parents Association sponsored SPEAK Series. Ms. Lee returned to Collegiate last year to partner with me and the Board of Trustees' Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Strategic Subcommittee. She is slated to return in early 2021 to continue the work we began last year. Since 2004, Ms. Lee has been a diversity speaker and trainer on various topics, including cross-cultural communication, identity development, and implicit and unconscious bias.

As a school, we use our programming and activities to broadly honor cultural diversity during Spanish History Month, LBGTQ History Month, Pride Month, Black History Month, and Women's History Month. We also recognize our cultural diversity during International Week as well as through our mission to develop students' global citizenship by studying multiple perspectives and increasing a sense of responsibility to live, work, and engage respectfully with a diversity of people in an interconnected world. Additionally, we value our alumni's voices and perspectives by utilizing those connections to discuss how to support students now, informed by information from the past. Like our student body, we value the different life experiences, perspectives, and voices that represent our faculty and staff. To ensure we can attract, recruit, and hire a diverse faculty and staff, we will work to continue to build relationships with regional and national organizations to support these efforts. To this end, a new community engagement initiative this year focuses on developing relationships with local universities like Bellarmine and historically black colleges and universities (HBCU) like Kentucky State University, Simmons College of Kentucky, Fisk University, and Tennessee State University.

STUDENT ENGAGEMENT AND SUPPORT:

We create multi-grouping opportunities for students to connect with adults and peers in our community to discuss and reflect upon subjects concerning diversity, equity, and inclusion. Cultivating strong student leadership is key in creating student engagement and advocacy throughout the school, particularly in the Middle and Upper School divisions. In the Upper School, the Senate is composed of student leaders elected by their peers to create student programming and activities in the Upper School. This year, the Senate leaders invited the leaders of our affinity groups, known as The Equality Coalition, to appoint representatives from each of the coalition affinity groups to join the Senate in its work representing Upper School students. The Equality Coalition is made up of three groups: the Collegiate Feminist Club (CFC), Black Student Union (BSU), and the Gender Sexuality Alliance (GSA). During this particularly unusual school year, Upper School students have also found ways to stay connected during remote learning through Collegiate Cable. This student-produced, teacher-facilitated video program allows Upper School students to create short clips of content about a range of topics, including voting and the election, and an upcoming segment focused on cultural identities.

Why Affinity Groups Matter:

Collegiate is committed to creating student-centered affinity groups. The role of student-centered affinity groups is to provide safe spaces for students with a common identity to speak, share, and to grow with one another from the sharing of personal, firsthand experiences shaped by a particular identity lens. These groups are sponsored by Collegiate faculty and staff. Their role is to facilitate these student groups in setting goals for the year, creating agendas for meetings, organizing events, and celebrations. The sponsor also takes on the role of a teacher leader for their groups in partnership with the Director of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, Head of the Upper School, and Head of the Middle School.

Middle School student leaders also consider diversity, equity, and inclusion issues through their clubs and activities like the Social Justice Club. They receive implicit bias training through the Freedom Center in Cincinnati while working on an interdisciplinary history unit in the 7th Grade curriculum. To further expand our work in diversity, equity, and inclusion, I will work with a small working group of 8th Grade students discussing diversity, equity, and inclusion work specific to the Middle School.

The Lower School uses its curriculum and character cornerstones to developmentally weave in topics of diversity, equity, and inclusion through an array of diverse > children's literature, the social studies curriculum, and our global citizenship scope and sequence. In the primary grades, students begin to think about their identity through self-portraits and personal narratives. They also start to grapple with what it means to be a citizen. In the intermediate grades, students expand upon their understanding of who they are and begin to think about the world around them in relation to their place in our community, the broader community, and the world.

"We work hard to ensure that diversity, equity, and inclusion are more than just add-ons; instead, the work is interwoven into the framework. This work can be challenging, and Collegiate is ready to take on the difficult work and to foster those conversations to instill in our students the vital skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly changing world."

> Many of the programs and activities that I have shared in this overview are things that we, as a community, believe are essential to who we are and what we do every day in our school community. We work hard to ensure that diversity, equity, and inclusion are more than just add-ons; instead, the work is interwoven into the framework. This work can be challenging, and Collegiate is ready to take on the difficult work and to foster those conversations to instill in our students the vital skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly changing world. I look forward to sharing more updates moving forward.

Students Return to the Playing Fields this Fall

This past fall, student-athletes coaches and parents wore masks, sanitized, and maintained social distancing to stay healthy and safe while participating in athletics. The fall season was shortened due to COVID-19, however, the smiles and excitement to be back playing sports were unforgettable!

Thank you to our volunteers who helped with concessions, the admission gate, and making sure the fans were masked-up throughout the competitions. It was a great season!

Collegiate Celebrates 20th Season of Amazon Soccer

This year marks the 20th season for the Amazon Varsity Soccer program. Coach Thomas Travis established the Amazon Soccer program in 2000 and has been the head coach for the majority of the past 20 years. Coach Travis, along with his assistant coaches and former players, have created a team atmosphere where every member of the program plays a valuable role both on and off the field.

Eleven Alums Pursue Careers in Education at Collegiate

We are proud to have 11 alumni faculty and staff (almost 10% of all faculty & staff members) working at Collegiate this school year. This year, we welcomed three alumni back to campus: Lucas Asher '16, Upper School Science Instructor, James Stites '15, Upper School Admission Counselor and Financial Aid Coordinator, and Emily Wolff '15, Middle School Administrative Assistant. Please see below (pictured l-r) a complete list of all of our Alumni who current work at Collegiate.

Alumni Association Hosts Virtual Trivia Night

On Saturday, October 24, the Alumni Association hosted its first Virtual Trivia Night. Ten teams joined the fun, with the highlights being the Collegiate Trivia Round (surprisingly, not the best scores from our alumni on this one) and raffle for a bottle of LCS 1915 Old Forester Single Barrel Bourbon, going to Ian Shapira '96. It was a fun time to catch up with alums from LA to Washington, D.C. COVID-19 has canceled our in-person events, but we are working on ways to stay connected and unite our alumni. We look forward to the next Trivia Night in the Spring. Congratulations to the winning team anchored by James Stites '15 and Emily Wolff '15.

Save the Date

Saturday, February 20, 2021

Please contact Kyle Manning '04 if you are interesting in joining the planning committee at kmanning@louisvillecollegiate.org or 502.479.0345.

Named for the school's founders, Virginia Perrin Speed (1879-1968) and her husband, William Shallcross Speed (1873-1955), the Speed Society consists of individuals and families who make a legacy gift to Collegiate's planned giving program.

Planned gifts can provide a variety of benefits which may include life income, continued use of gift property, an avoidance of capital gains tax and immediate tax deduction.

Contrary to popular misconception, nearly everyone can make a planned gift to Louisville Collegiate School at some level and a multitude of simple options exist:

Beauest

Making a bequest to Louisville Collegiate School can be easily accomplished by including a few sentences in a will or Revocable Living Trust. Bequests are flexible and can be adjusted-perhaps for this reason, 75% of planned gifts come in this form! Legal and financial advisors will know how best to structure a will to meet a donor's financial needs.

Life Insurance

Whole-life insurance policies represent a valuable opportunity to make a major gift that benefits both the donor and the school in many ways. It is incredibly simple to name the School as a beneficiary on a policy.

Retirement Plans

Naming Collegiate as the beneficiary of a retirement plan (IRA, 401K, or 403B) is an easy and tax efficient way to leave a legacy gift. Given current tax laws, beneficiaries other than spouses may be taxed on the income, but charities such as Louisville Collegiate School are able to receive the full amount of remaining retirement assets.

Other Planned Gifts

A properly chosen planned gift vehicle may offer significant tax benefits and retirement income to the donor, while imparting a much larger gift than imagined.

For more information on The Speed Society, please contact Mandy Helton, Assistant Director of Advancement, at 502.292.0459 or mhelton@louisvillecollegiate.org.

The purpose of the Alumni Board is to: (1) lend to the Louisville Collegiate School, the organized support of its members by providing a united organization for the alumni; (2) foster the perpetuation and preservation of the history, values, and tradition; (3) provide a network for the exchange of information on college, career, and retirement opportunities for students and alumni; (4) conduct activities and communicate with alumni on a systematic and regular basis; and (5) provide fundraising effort as well as financial support to assist in its mission. This year the Alumni Association wrapped up the final installment of the $30,000 pledge made to the Second Century Campaign.
